Coping With The Loss Of A Dog: How To Deal With The Death Of Your Friend (Dealing With The Grief Of Pet Death Book 1)

Synopsis

When a beloved dog passes, it leaves behind a hole in its family's life that's impossible to fill. I've written this book by drawing on my own experiences of the heart wrenching emotions that follow the death of a dog. I've lost four dogs, and grieved for each one. I still grieve for each one, but in a different way now – in a happier way, a way that brings back fond memories that make me smile and not cry. I hope this book will help you get closer to that place too, a place where you can look back on the time you spent with your dog and laugh, not cry. I've covered a few topics in this book, including; What is grief? Dealing with guilt Understanding other people's reactions to the death of your dog Laying your dog to rest Coming to terms with the loss of your dog How to speak to children about the loss Memorialising your dog I've also added a page of clickable links that will take you to some websites and forums that may help you further in coming to terms with the death of your dog. There's links to communities in which you can share your story and receive support from people who are going through the same distressing situation as you, and people who have been through it and can help. I've also added links to websites that offer memorialising services, both in the UK and the US. I hope this book can help you along the path in recovering after the death of your friend.

I'm certain that you were speaking directly to me right from the beginning of your book. Thank you for telling me just what I needed to hear. This giant hole in my heart can be replaced with happy memories, and I can rid myself of this guilt.
