Customer Reviews

This book is very useful not only for the mother of the bride but also for the groom's mother. Coz they get nervous when surrounded with the crowd. So, instead of forgetting on what they are going to say, they can pick one from this book and modify for what applies.

This book covers different types of speech whether it be you are a single parent, religious, formal, short and long speeches. The great thing is you can take these speeches and make your own special speech for that special day! I have two girls and this will come in handy when that special day does come. I will keep this book close to create my own special speech. I referred this book to a coworker that has both a daughter and son getting married this year and she was so grateful. I was able to buy this book at a discount during a promotion and am happy to share my experience reading it.

This book is what you need to purchase when you need to deliver a speech to your daughter's wedding. With this book you can safely deliver a message that will not make your guests and, most of all, your daughter cringe because you now have a spiel to guide you. Amazingly, this book has prepared speeches for various weddings - small, religious, grand, etc. Future brides, make sure you give this book to your mothers before your wedding to avoid embarrassing speeches and adlibs.

This book has some really good starters for almost any situation. For religious weddings, informal weddings, etc. Some of the speeches were so good they had me in tears. My daughter is only four and it had me already thinking of her wedding day and all the sentimental things I could potentially put in a wedding speech for her one day. This would be the perfect book for any mother who is unsure where to start when coming up with a speech for their daughters wedding.

This book will help a lot of Mothers out there when getting ready for their speech in their daughter's wedding. My mom had a great difficulty in creating one for my wedding. I'll make sure to have her read on this book for her to have a guide when the wedding of my sister will be due.
