

The book was found

Messy Grace: How A Pastor With Gay Parents Learned To Love Others Without Sacrificing Conviction

Synopsis

Sometimes, grace gets messy. Caleb Kaltenbach was raised by LGBT parents, marched in gay pride parades as a youngster, and experienced firsthand the hatred and bitterness of some Christians toward his family. But then Caleb surprised everyone, including himself, by becoming a Christian and a pastor. Very few issues in Christianity are as divisive as the acceptance of the LGBT community in the church. As a pastor and as a person with beloved family members living a gay lifestyle, Caleb had to face this issue with courage and grace. Messy Grace shows us that Jesus's command to "love your neighbor as yourself" doesn't have an exception clause for a gay neighbor or for that matter, any other neighbor we might find it hard to relate to. Jesus was able to love these people and yet still hold on to his beliefs. So can you. Even when it's messy. Messy Grace is an important contribution to the conversation about sexual identity for churches and leaders. Caleb's story is surprising and unique, and he weaves it together compellingly. He states his views clearly, leaves room for disagreement, and champions love no matter where you are in this conversation.

Jud Wilhite, Sr. Pastor, Central Christian Church

Book Information

Paperback: 224 pages

Publisher: WaterBrook (October 20, 2015)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 1601427360

ISBN-13: 978-1601427366

Product Dimensions: 5.2 x 0.6 x 8 inches

Shipping Weight: 3.2 ounces (View shipping rates and policies)

Average Customer Review: 4.7 out of 5 stars See all reviews (151 customer reviews)

Best Sellers Rank: #11,363 in Books (See Top 100 in Books) #2 in Books > Religion & Spirituality > Religious Studies > Gender & Sexuality #24 in Books > Christian Books & Bibles > Christian Living > Social Issues

Customer Reviews

Caleb Kaltenbach is a pastor with a unique past. When he was still a child, his mother divorced his father and married another woman. Meanwhile, his father hid his own homosexuality until Caleb was in college. He grew up completely immersed in gay culture: going to pride parades, tagging along with his mom and her partner to parties, and watching his parents maligned by

'Christians.' One story in particular broke my heart. When he was a teenager, he went with his mom and her partner to a gay pride parade. While there, they met a group of 'Christian' hecklers waving signs that said, "Fags go away," and "Jesus has no room for you." The hecklers used water-guns to shoot them with urine. As they were being verbally and physically demeaned, Caleb looked at his mother and asked her, "Why are those people acting like that?" Her response was heartbreaking: "Well, Caleb, they're Christians, and Christians hate gay people. Christians don't like anyone who's not like them." It would be easy for us, as Christians, to immediately object, "I don't hate gay people. I'm just speaking the truth." But what do our actions say? Are our lives proclaiming God's Gospel of love to all creation? Or, have we predetermined who is worthy of hearing God's plan to reconcile all humanity back to himself? If there's one issue that many in the Church have dropped the ball on, it's the issue of homosexuality. Most Christians simply haven't been equipped to deal with this complex and sensitive subject. And by the way, this is a topic that isn't going away. We need to learn how to deal with this issue in a way that reflects both the truth of God's Word and his great love for every member of the human family.

Imagine finding out both of your parents are gay. They divorce and live in separate cities where you go to visit them. Imagine you were raised in LGBT community, going to gay pride parades, the LGBT events that your mother helped put together. Imagine as a child you see what Christians do to people who are not like them. You were told by your mother that Christians hate us because we are gay. Imagine you now attend church knowing who your parents are and coming to faith in Christ. Imagine telling your parents you are now a Christian knowing they have been hated on by some Christian groups. Years later, you sensed God's calling to the ministry. Imagine the anxiety you were feeling at that time. These things might not have happened to you personally but they did happen to Caleb Kaltenbach. Caleb is a pastor and writes his story along with what the church should do in a book called, Messy Grace. I must admit when I first heard of this book, I thought this is one of those books of a pastor compromising God's Word in regards to the LGBT community. I was wrong. This book is about how the church should show love to the LGBT community without compromising the truth of God's Word. He does believe the Bible calls all to repent and we must trust in Christ alone for the forgiveness of sins. I should have read the subtitle of the book a little more carefully, which says this book is about a pastor learning to love others without compromising conviction. The reason this book is called Messy Grace is because the church is called to be a messy place. We are called to love messy people. The church should be the first place where we are honest about our struggles, but it is not. I am not just talking about same-sex attraction.

Download to continue reading...

Keep Your Love On: Connection Communication And Boundaries The New Rules for Love, Sex, and Dating A Lifelong Love: How to Have Lasting Intimacy, Friendship, and Purpose in Your Marriage Confessions of a Depressed Christian: How a Pastor Survived Depression & How You Can Too Machines of Loving Grace: The Quest for Common Ground Between Humans and Robots Quieting Your Heart: 30-Day Prayer Journal - Love Edition Dataclysm: Love, Sex, Race, and Identity--What Our Online Lives Tell Us about Our Offline Selves Gifted: a love story (A Redeeming Romance Medical Mystery) Onward: Engaging the Culture without Losing the Gospel Messy Grace: How a Pastor with Gay Parents Learned to Love Others Without Sacrificing Conviction Love from The Very Hungry Caterpillar Caring for Widows: Ministering God's Grace Comfort the Grieving: Ministering God's Grace in Times of Loss (Practical Shepherding Series) The Imperfect Pastor: Discovering Joy in Our Limitations through a Daily Apprenticeship with Jesus Memes: World's Funniest WhatsApp Posts!! (Memes, Parents, Minecraft, Kids) TV Without Cable: Guide to Free Internet TV and Over-the-Air Free TV (Streaming Devices Book 1) My Tv Without Cable: Your Guide To Free Internet TV And Over-The-Air Free TV Paleo Takeout: Restaurant Favorites Without the Junk Tiger Heart: My Unexpected Adventures to Make a Difference in Darjeeling, and What I Learned about Fate, Fortitude, and Finding Family Half a World Away Bento Cookbook: 30 Bento Box Recipes You Will Love!

Dmca